Why Caught in the Moment...

High school has always been depicted as a magical time in one's life. Each moment spent in high school is a memory waiting to be captured. The theme "Caught in the Moment" is used to express how high school is an unforgettable time in one's life and how each day you never know what to expect. Each moment spent in high school needs to be cherished because it can never be relived. Every step you take walking down the hall and each decision you make can never be taken back or changed. You cannot relive your past nor can you jump into your future. Right here and right now is where you are, and like high school, this moment can only be captured in our memories.

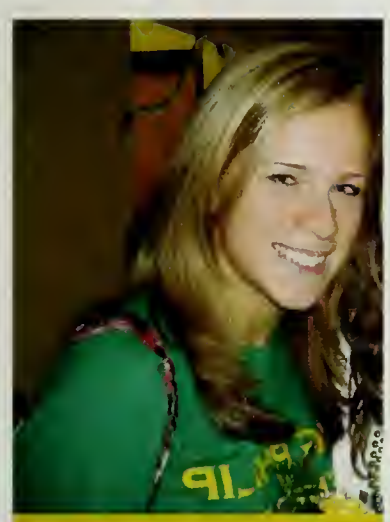
Caught in the Moment
Living Life to its Fullest



Kathryn Lehman

"High school is the best time of your lives." Throughout the years, we've heard many people repeat this to us, emphasizing the fact that during these four, exciting, fast years, we must enjoy it to the best of our ability. Of course, there are going to be obstacles along the way. The truth of the matter is, life is what we make it. Essentially, stick by your true friends. Only associate with people that are going to lift you higher and make you happier. Never forget to take chances; certain rules are meant to be broken. You know yourself better than anyone else so do what you feel is right. There are always going to be people striving to be better but it's important to stay confident and true to yourself. Everyone makes mistakes; just remember to never make the same mistake twice. With every situation you're put in, try to be positive and keep a smile on your face. Love each other, but most importantly, love yourself. "The most important thing in life is to learn how to give love and to let it come in." (Morrie Schwartz)

Throughout my life I have been involved with many people and situations that have taught me the lesson of "nothing worth having comes easy and/or without hard work." Whether it was my parents at home, teachers at school, or coaches in sports, I was constantly taught that if something was "worth having" then I needed to be patient and must work for it. This is a lesson I have learned and continue to learn in my life and one that remains a big part of the way I approach my life today.

Going for the Gold

The opportunity to be involved in athletics in high school is significant. Most people that never play on an athletic team do not get to experience the feeling of being part of a team. In sports you get people working together with others who share a common bond that enables one to push themselves to their physical and emotional limits. Participation in athletics can foster unity and it can create animosity. As a member of a team you are forced to work together and put aside your own personal desires to do what is best for the team. Since athletics is a microcosm of society, athletes learn hard work, integrity, sportsmanship and how to overcome adversity. The lessons learned playing on an athletic team absolutely can and should be utilized in later life. The athlete that uses the opportunity given to him or her for positive life-long learning will be more likely to know how to GO FOR THE GOLD as they become an adult!

Caught in the Moment

Making a Difference

I believe that getting involved and helping in your community should be a top priority in everyone's life. By helping out those who are less fortunate or anyone in need for that matter, you can make a big difference in the world. For those who are given much, much is expected. It is important to share your gifts with the world. Volunteer, get involved and help others. You do not want to waste the opportunities that four years of high school provides. Make a difference, whether it is in the classroom, the school or in your town; it's important to be a part of something bigger than yourself. Getting involved in organizations and clubs is not the only way you can make a difference. It does not take much time or effort to make someone's day a little brighter; a simple smile or kind word goes a long way. Sometimes teenagers are too quick to judge others, and to make a difference we must accept everyone. Don't judge. Interact with others and be open to new ideas and different people. No matter what a person wears, looks or acts like, no one should be judged by their appearance alone. The phrase "never judge a book by its cover" is one of the very first lessons we learn and it is true. Acceptance and kindness should rule your day. Start today. Make an enemy a friend. Smile at a stranger. Join a club and get involved in life.

I think the sense of community that exists with all the characters - that's the answer. The fact that they have found a family in their friends. It does give some depth and meaning to their lives.

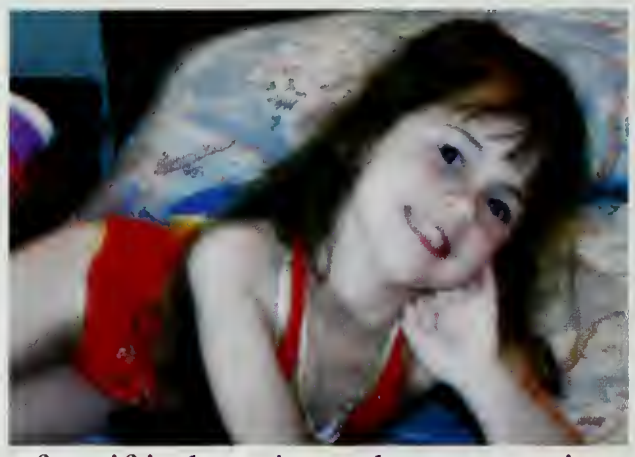
We know that it has been four exciting years with rewards, setbacks, struggles and hard work.



Have PASSION. If it's not fun, if it doesn't spark your passion, don't do it. Spend your energies on what truly excites you. In life, necessity may force you and ambition may drive you, but passion carries you.

LOVE. Be strong enough to choose it. Whatever your career choice, however strong your passion for it, your job can never be more important than the people you love. Always have the strength to choose Love.

No matter where you are, who you become, or what you do, we are proud of you.

CONGRATULATIONS!

Love, Mom & Dad

Kristen Lamb

Congratulations!!!
I can't even begin to tell you how proud we are of you. You have grown into such a beautiful young woman with a great outlook on life!! We know you will succeed in anything you do in life - you have the determination it takes. Always reach for the stars and don't settle for anything less. You are the best!
Love, Mom, Dad, Andy, Emily & Bailey

Kaila Smith

Kaila,
We are so proud of you. Follow your dreams and don't let anyone or anything stand in your way.
Love,
Mom, Dad
& Melissa

Danielle Shea

Congratulations! You're the best! Keep smiling. We love you so much and are so proud of you!

Mom, Doug, Chris, Heather and Sarah

Amy Tolivaisa

Amy,
Where did the years go... Yesterday pre-school graduation and today High School. We are very proud of you.
Love, Mom, Dad, and Marley

Hope High School was fun and you enjoy the college experiences.
Love, Bret

Garrick Cronin

Garrick - We love you and are very proud of you and your accomplishments. Your successes have only just begun.
Love, Gramma and Pop

Sean Maguire

Life's treasures are sometimes buried. Dig deeply and you will always find them!!

Love, Mom, Dad, and John

James Robert Connelly

James,
We are so proud of all of your accomplishments. Keep up the good work.

Love,
Mom & Dad

Erin Lawler

You finally graduated!!! Too bad you have to bring the cat to college with you. No matter how much we've ever been annoyed with each other, we'll always be best friends when everyone else is annoying.
Love you,
Kristen

Briana R. Fountain

Looking at pictures of you as you grew is like looking at the most beautiful, precious moments to us. It's hard to believe you are all grown up and graduating. You are one of the true, greatest miracles in our life. Our beautiful, gorgeous daughter who we could not be prouder of. Don't ever doubt how much you are loved and you mean the world to us. P.S. You really are the favorite. (Don't tell Meg)
Love,
Mom & Dad

Chad Perry

Our sweet baby boy has grown to be a kind, fun-loving, intelligent young man. Bud, we are so proud of you. May your path in life bring much happiness and success. Keep home close to heart.

We love you ~ Mom and Dad

Chad,
Congrats! I can't believe my little brother is graduating! You've done so well in high school, and I've loved watching you play basketball. I enjoy our fun times together. You're a wonderful person, and I'm so proud to call you my brother! Remember who you are and where you came from. I'll always be here for you.

Kayley,
Take chances, Tell the truth.
Date someone TOTALLY wrong for you.
Say no. Spend all your cash. Fall in love.
Get to know someone random. Be random.
Say I love you. Sing out loud.
Tell someone how much they mean to you.
Laugh at a stupid joke. Cry.
Let someone know what they're missing.
Don't w o r r y about everyone else. Be yourself.
Laugh until your stomach hurts. Live life.
